

If you are planning a visit to Northern Ireland there is no better place to start than the cliffs of Slieve League in County Donegal. More remote than the Cliffs of Moher but at over 3 times the height of their more famous west coast equivalent, these are the ones to visit. For incredible views 2000ft down to the sea traverse the ridge of 'one man's path'. If you're with children, hold onto them tight!. For those who fancy a bit of shopping there's no better place than Belfast. Shopping in Belfast is special because with high street stores, family owned businesses, designer boutiques, markets and the incredible Victoria Square and Castle Court shopping centres it really does have something for everyone! Whilst in Belfast why not step back in time and soak up some Northern Irish heritage and visit the Titanic museum or Antrim Castle. A tour of Ireland wouldn't be complete without a visit to the unusual basalt rock formation that is 'The Giants Causeway'.
