Road Trip

France, Ile de Re

France, Ile de Re

A low lying island off the west coast of France, Ile du Re is a UNESCO site 19 miles long and 3.5 miles wide populated by pines and dunes. Connected by a bridge in 1988 it is covered by 60 miles of bicycle tracks and surrounded by gently sloping beaches. Sparsely populated during the winter months it has a large influx of tourists in summer.

Offering around 50 campsites to choose from you should always be able to find somewhere to stay.

Towns include Saint Martin and La Flotte and both have a lively nightlife scene and restaurants that are open late. Fresh fish is always available and the fishermen are known to sell a small portion of their catch directly on the quayside.

Places to visit

Hire a Bike

Leisurely explore the extensive network of routes that crisscross the low lying flat countryside. There are several places to hire from in St. Martin, all offering similar prices. YooToo at 9 Avenue Bouthillier has well maintained bikes from £7.50 a day. Pick up a map from the tourist centre in St Martins and pedal out through the fortifications toward Le Bois Plage on the south coast. A cheerful town with the best all purpose family beach on the island.

Abbaye des Chateliers

Take the path to La Flotte, a little harbour about 2 miles from St Martins and home to the ruins of the Cistercian Abbaye des Chateliers, built in 1156 and enjoy the impressionistic scenery. La Flotte has some wonderful galleries showcasing local talent and the islands best food market showcasing all that is great about French cuisine.

St.Martin

Take a stroll around the star shaped fortifications that surround the town of St Martin. Built by the great French engineer Vauban in the late 17th century to accommodate the islands population and their cattle. Kids will love the numerous moats and drawbridges and the great views from the ramparts.
