Dorset & the Jurassic Coast

Dorset, on the south coast of Britain is well worth a visit if you're interested in beautiful landscapes and dramatic coastlines. Over half the county is designated 'an area of outstanding beauty' by UNESCO and three quarters of the coastline is classed as a world heritage site.

There are no motorways in Dorset, so you will have time to take in the scenery as you meander through rolling hills and picture perfect villages.

The coastline has many things to offer. From Chesil Beach, the 18 mile long stretch of pebbles that has a UNESCO protection for its wildlife, to the limestone arches of Durdle Dor, part of the Lulworth Estate.

How about letting the kids search for fossils in the limestone cliffs near Lyme Regis or letting them run amok at Maiden Castle, an Iron Age hill fort near Dorchester or Corfe Castle on the Isle of Purbeck that was built by William the Conqueror.

If you feel like a little nightlife, you could visit Bournemouth or Poole in the east of the County. Or see how the other half lives in Sandbanks, Britain's answer to Palm Beach with the fourth highest real estate value in the world.

Places to visit

Corfe Castle

Discover the 1000 year history of these iconic and evocative ruins, now in the portfolio of the National Trust. The castle is set in a beautiful position next to the village of Purbeck and was once a fortress home to Royalty. Discover the history and delve into the stories of treason and treachery amongst the fallen walls.

Address: The Square. Corfe Castle. Wareham. BH20 5EZ.

Purbeck Shooting School

Voted as the best shooting ground in the UK with over 50 acres of naturalistic ground on site. Purbeck Shooting School covers numerous aspects of target presentation and are able to offer tuition to anyone over the age of 7 years.

Address: Purbeck Shooting School. Puddletown Road. Wareham. BH20 7NG.

Dinosaurland and Fossil Museum

This museum has a good collection of displays covering dinosaurs, natural history and fossils and is a credit to the enthusiastic owners who run the museum purely from the revenue of visitors. Old fashioned in nature it relies on great descriptions and good exhibits with a touch of humour thrown in.

Address: Coombe Street. Lyme Regis. DT7 3PY.
