

Northumberland stretches from the Scottish Borders to Hadrian's Wall with two areas of outstanding natural beauty and a national park. You could be walking along vast expanses of dune-fringed beaches, climbing dramatic hills and taking in glorious sweeps of valleys or just reveling in wide-open spaces. Northumberland boasts a diverse selection of activities to keep everyone happy, you could go kite surfing if you looking for adventure, take the children on the Steam train or sit back and relax by star gazing under the darkest skies in England.

With some of the most spectacular unspoiled coastline in the UK. It was designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) in 1958 and covers 39 miles of stunning coast! The Northumberland Coastal Route provides access to the many towns and villages along this magnificent stretch of coastline. Much of the area is unpopulated with mile after mile of clean and safe award-winning golden sandy beaches, quiet country lanes and an unequalled sense of freedom.
